

Award-winning portal helps ease the pain of on-the-job injuries for all

New tools empower employees, promoting better healing and healthier businesses

The problem:

Injured workers are often frustrated by complicated claims and recovery processes. This can slow progress, fuel ill will, and disrupt business in other ways.

Our solution:

Focus on the worker's needs to make recovery easier at every step, starting with an award-winning, mobile-friendly portal.

What people who have used the portal have to say:

“So much more simple compared to other websites I've used.”

— Josh H.

“Never had an issue getting through to a live person.”

— Susanna K.

“It tells me exactly what I need to see.”

— Patrick J.

Capabilities that simplify employee recovery

Our website encourages participation and follow-through by making it simple to for injured workers to:

- Find out when a check is coming
- Set up direct deposit for faster access to payment
- Contact adjusters and specialists
- Find medical care providers
- Get answers to common questions

Engagement that helps improve return to work outcomes

Providing tools like this shows employees you have their back, which can help:

- Reduce downtime
- Preserve institutional knowledge
- Protect company culture
- Reduce costs by improving workers compensation claim outcomes
- Optimize production

Why it works

Winner of the 2020 Business Insurance Innovation Award, the website was built from the worker's point of view, using the following four pillars of injured worker advocacy:

Empathy.

Put yourself in workers shoes to anticipate and meet their needs.

Connection.

Keep the employer and employee in the loop.

Clarity.

Use clear, simple language the makes the goals and process easy to understand.

The right care.

Enable treatment that helps employees get back to work.
